Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 08 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain overnight, then turning colder.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy this evening with outbreaks of light rain or drizzle. Rain turning heavier for a time later in the night accompanied by gusty winds. Colder conditions then developing from the north as the rain and cloud clears to the south. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Friday:
Remaining cloud and rain clearing from southern parts through the morning, giving a bright day with sunny spells and well scattered showers. Chilly overnight. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cold through the weekend, with a risk of wintry showers and widespread overnight frosts. Turning milder through Monday, mainly dry and bright with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.